Risks

Risk related to investments in some countries

Investments in some countries (e.g. China, Greece, India, Indonesia, Japan, Saudi Arabia and Thailand) involve risks linked to restrictions imposed on foreign investors and counterparties, higher market volatility and lack of liquidity. Consequently, some shares may not be available to the Underlying Fund due to the number of foreign shareholders authorized or if the total investment permitted for foreign shareholders has been reached. In addition, the repatriation by foreign investors of their share, capital and/or dividends may be restricted or require the approval of the government. The Company will only invest if it considers that the restrictions are acceptable. However, no guarantee can be given that additional restrictions will not be imposed in future.

Risk related to Sharia Compliance risk

The risk that the restriction to invest only in Sharia-compliant securities may place the Underlying Fund at a comparative disadvantage vs. funds that do not have this restriction. Returns to unitholders may also be reduced due to payments to Sharia approved charities to “purify” dividends.

This compartment uses the commitment approach methodology for the calculation of the global exposure to financial derivative instruments and that the use of financial derivative instruments are allowed for hedging purposes only, according to the present version of the Appendices II and III of the prospectus. Financial derivative instruments' structure and documentation are compliant with sharia principles. The commitment approach methodology is suitable to funds that use less complex positions on financial derivative instruments or use financial derivative instruments used for hedging purposes only.

Market Risk

Market risk is a general risk that affects all investments. Price for financial instruments are mainly determined by the financial markets and by the economic development of the issuers, who are themselves affected by the overall situation of the global economy and by the economic and political conditions prevailing in each relevant country.

The above should not be considered to be an exhaustive list of the risks which you should consider before investing into the Underlying Fund. You should be aware that an investment in the Underlying Fund may be exposed to other risks of an exceptional nature from time to time.
